Aerial Ashes offer an innovative means of cleanly and sensitively scattering your loved one's ashes at beautiful locations across the UK over land or sea.

Aerial Ashes was born of the idea to provide an airborne, ashes scattering service that can enable anyone to access beautiful and memorable locations over which ashes can be scattered whilst also removing the anxiety some have of handling the process themselves.

Aerial Ashes use drones fitted with load boxes specially modified to carry and release cremation ashes which can be scattered remotely at the movement of a switch. Each drone can carry the ashes of one person and will either fly the occasion as a singleton, or in company with another drone used to video or photograph as required.

Aerial Ashes operate from a take-off and landing area that is usually 100 metres from the area over which the ashes will be scattered; this gives an excellent view of the moment they are released, and it is from here that the drones are prepared including loading the ashes. Friends and relatives who choose to be present are most welcome to be part of the ashes scattering; some like to take their own photographs of the occasion whilst others even like to operate the ashes release switch.

Scatter Ashes Over Water

Scattering ashes at sea is a popular choice and flights normally take place early in the morning or late in the evening when the beaches are quiet.

Scatter Ashes Over Land

Scattering ashes over land is always subject to our obtaining permission from the landowner for which we conduct research and all necessary correspondence. The time taken to gain permission varies but choices include golf courses, sports stadiums and racecourses as well as open moorland and hillsides.
